Restart System and try to log in your Ubuntu Q: Restore database from SQL Express on different server I created a new SQL Express Database at the server A. Now I want to restore the database (with some table on it) from server B. The SQL Express databases were created with SQL Server Management Studio Express. I tried to connect from Server A to Server B, but failed. Is there a solution for this problem? A: If you connect to a database instance on another server and export it's database (file path is database file name +.bak) then you can restore it on your local server. More info here: Lung cancer, the leading cause of cancer-related mortality in the US, is already the most frequently diagnosed malignancy, and projections indicate that it will soon replace breast cancer as the leading cause of cancer-related mortality in women. Although the absolute number of deaths attributable to lung cancer will remain stable as long as smoking is prevalent, the proportion of smokers in the population will continue to decline and the global burden of lung cancer is expected to more than double by 2030 (1). Lung cancer presents a major threat to human health; however, progress in developing new treatments has been glacial (2,3), and available therapies are palliative at best. The survival rate for all lung cancer patients remains between 10 and 15% (4), highlighting the need for novel therapies to improve patient care. Non-small cell lung cancer (NSCLC) accounts for approximately 85% of lung cancer cases (5); however, the majority of anticancer drugs currently approved for clinical use are effective only against small cell lung cancer.
